

Picture Perfect

'A Window to Our Soul' – A community service project

Proof that great things can come out of simple ideas, SMU's 'A Window to Our Soul' project has grown into a significant community service project. The project, an 18-month calendar, is a series of striking black and white portraits of SMU students, parents, faculty, staff and senior administrators by well-known photographer Russel Wong. Priced at $15 per copy, 3,527 calendars were sold in less than three months. At a grand sum of just over $50,000, this was the single largest amount raised by SMU for the Children's Cancer Foundation. Professor Howard Hunter, SMU's president hailed the project as "an extension of SMU's philosophy in inculcating a sense of social responsibility, in giving back to the society and the on-going efforts our students have put in to touch the lives of children in need."

(From left) Mr Raphael Lim, CCF's Executive Director, Ms Lim Shini, Manager, Office of Undergraduate Admissions and Professor Howard Hunter, President, SMU.

Life Savers

SingHealth Foundation's Savemoney Savelives Campaign 2007, 4 May, Chevron House

With Mr Heng Chee How, Minister of State for Health looking on, SingHealth Foundation launched its Savemoney Savelives campaign to raise funds for medical research in the fields of cancer, childhood disorders, eye diseases and neurosciences and stem cell research. One of the major partners was Keppel Offshore & Marine donating a generous $50,000. All money raised went to SingHealth healthcare institutions such as the National Cancer Centre, National Heart Centre, Singapore National Eye Centre, National Neuroscience Institute, Singapore General Hospital and KK Women's and Children's Hospital.

Launching the Savemoney Savelives 2007 Campaign From left to right: Dr Kwa Chong Teck, Director of SingHealth Foundation; Minister of State for Health Mr Heng Chee How and Prof Tan Ser Kiat, Chairman of SingHealth Foundation & Group CEO of SingHealth.

Realising Potential

Charity Gala

From left : Barney Lau, Managing Director – Microsoft Singapore; Microsoft CEO Steve Ballmer; His Excellency President S R Nathan; Dr Ow Chee Chung, SPD's Executive Director.

A Soft Touch

Realising Potential Charity Gala Dinner, 22 May, Ritz Carlton Millenia

At a charity gala dinner to benefit the Society for the Physically Disabled as part of the President's Challenge, Microsoft Singapore traded software for heartware when it pledged more than $470,000 to the Society. The glittering dinner was attended by Microsoft CEO Steve Ballmer, with guests-of-honour, President

S R Nathan and Mrs Nathan, and 400 other dignitaries, media, corporate and individual donors. The guests were serenaded by delightful jazz performances by home-grown song mavens, Clarissa Monteiro, Eunice Olsen and Vocaluptous.

Photo credit: Marcus Fritsian Chung Zhi Hao
Guest of Honour, Mr Teo Ser Luck, Parliamentary Secretary, MCYS, receiving a token of appreciation from Glenn.

Rise and Shine

Launch of 'Wake Up Call', 1 April, Borders

A rebellious rock musician and drug addict over-comes his personal demons to become a respected youth counselor and ambassador. No, it's not a movie. Rather, they are the gripping episodes in Glenn Lim's life and on 1 April, a hundred-odd fans turned up at Borders to celebrate the launch of his autobiography 'Wake Up Call'. Among the guests was guest-of-honour, Mr Teo Ser Luck, Parliamentary Secretary for Ministry of Community Development, Youth and Sports.

To the delight of the crowd, Glenn performed two guitar solos on his electric guitar. 'Wake Up Call' is available at major bookstores.